Product Description

The SUNMI L2H stands out as a highly customizable enterprise handheld solution designed to adapt to the unique workflows of diverse industries—from multi-location retail chains to security patrol services and event management. What sets it apart is its modular design, supported by a range of optional accessories and flexible hardware configurations. It features four card slots (Nano SIM, PSIM, ISAM, TF) that enable dual-SIM connectivity for multi-region operations, secure IC card transactions via ISAM, and expandable storage for large datasets like regional product catalogs or event attendee lists. Security is prioritized with a capacitive fingerprint sensor and AI face recognition (with liveness detection), ensuring only authorized users access sensitive data. The device's programmable custom button can be mapped to workflow-specific actions—such as opening a cash drawer in retail or launching a ticketing app in events—streamlining repetitive tasks. Audio performance is enhanced with dual noise-canceling microphones and a 1W speaker, ensuring clear communication in noisy environments. Optional accessories include UHF trigger handles for long-range scanning, 4-slot charging bases for fleet management, and protective cases for extra durability, making it a scalable solution for businesses of all sizes.
